SWANS ISLAND

At Swans Island Company we keep it simple:
fleece from sheep, hands in the dye pot, hands on the loom, hands guiding needle and thread.

In fact, it's hard to do simple.

Simple means a commitment to high quality natural fibers and to dedicated Swans Island artisans whose hands know how to move and to make. Planned obsolescence is not in our vocabulary. Our woven pieces are handed down from our customers to their children and to their children's children. This is an awe-inspiring responsibility that we take seriously.

We have embraced the simple act of making the highest quality handmade goods here in the U.S. for more than thirty years.

Authentic, timeless design.
Natural and sustainable fibers.
A commitment to American-made.
A passion for excellence in handcraft.

These are the things that make Swans Island Company special. This is what keeps our loyal customers coming back year after year. This is what makes our blankets more than just something to keep you warm.
It's that simple.

NATURAL + SUSTAINABLE

We transform humble elements into beautiful objects for everyday life.

We use all-natural, organic and breed-specific wools, organic cotton and all-natural linen. Our partnerships with small American farms and spinneries help to sustain a way of life.

Since our beginnings on an island off the coast of Maine, we've believed in finding the best natural fibers and transforming them into something beautiful and useful — something that's designed to last a lifetime.

HANDCRAFTED

Traditional techniques applied to a modern aesthetic.

We take what is valuable from history and bring it forward, using time-honored crafts and skills. Our signature blankets are woven by hand on vintage looms. From the hand-dyed yarns to the handwoven silk edges, every blanket we make is unique.

MADE IN MAINE / USA

95% of our products are made in Maine and the USA.

We hand-dye and weave blankets in a 1790's farmhouse in Northport, Maine. Our yarns are spun in New England by the few remaining spinning mills. We partner with family farms, textile mills and small artisan makers in New England, New York, New Jersey, Texas and South Dakota. Even our linen-covered boxes are made in the U.S.A.

We believe in supporting small farms and small businesses. From farm to finish, we try to keep things local. Our supply chain is all about small.

A BLANKET'S JOURNEY

A lot goes into making a Swans Island Blanket, starting with a commitment to an idea.

In 1973 E.F. Schumacher wrote what turned out to be a very influential book, Small is Beautiful. It inspired many businesses, including Swans Island with quotes such as, "Wisdom demands a new orientation of science and technology toward the organic, the elegant and beautiful." This rather concisely articulates the approach we have taken to our business since its founding in 1992.

From farm to finish it takes at least — 12 people, 24 hands, 20 hours — to make one Swans Island blanket.

We source our materials from local farms and partner with small New England mills who turn our raw fleece into yarn. We hand-dye our yarns, handweave and stitch the finished products all from our Maine farmhouse. The artisans at Swans Island are passionate about creating beautiful one-of-a-kind products that will last a lifetime.

SWANS ISLAND SIGNATURE HANDWOVEN BLANKETS

Heritage and Grace Blankets

Heritage and Grace blankets were designed by our founder John Grace over thirty years ago. These original patterns continue to be customer favorites — a testament to the enduring quality of timeless design.

“Take what is valuable from history
and bring it forward.”

JOHN GRACE founder - Swans Island Company

Today we continue to weave these timeless blankets with our unique domestically sourced wool on the same looms John used, and they continue to be our most popular. Our distinctive “weaver’s mark” logo — the symbol of an authentic handwoven Swans Island blanket — is still added by hand. Packaged in a beautiful linen bag complete with aromatic cedar slats and a provenance card, each blanket is truly one-of-a-kind.

SWANS ISLAND HAND-DYED APPAREL

Swans Island apparel is crafted with our own hand-dyed yarns. The subtle variegation and rich tonality is unique to Swans Island accessories.

Handwoven scarves , wraps and capes are made by our team of Maine artisans. We design all of our knit products and we partner with small family-run mills in the USA to make them. With 97% of today's apparel production done offshore, we are very proud to continue to support our own team of makers and other small American mills that still believe in American-made excellence.

WHAT OUR CUSTOMERS HAVE TO SAY

THE WATERCOLORS SCARF

"I want to thank you on behalf of Swans Island for the absolutely gorgeous scarf I had ordered as a gift for my daughter-in-law for her birthday in February. The gorgeous packaging and photo on the box's inside, it brought me back to a time when the good things and how they are made are still important. Believe me, it brought tears to my eyes."

- Anne

THE CELEBRATION THROW

"The Celebration Throw represents everything Will and I love about Maine: it's sophisticated, subtly cheerful, and its quiet beauty doesn't demand attention. Our appreciation for the fine craftsmanship and color choice has only grown the longer we've lived with it."

- Hayley

THE SOLSTICE THROW

"Over the last few years, we have come to greatly appreciate the dedication of your team and the quality of your products. A Swans Island Blanket is our wedding present of choice for very special people...and they always appreciate what a wonderful gift it is."

- Marilyn
